

Battle of Fort Sumter

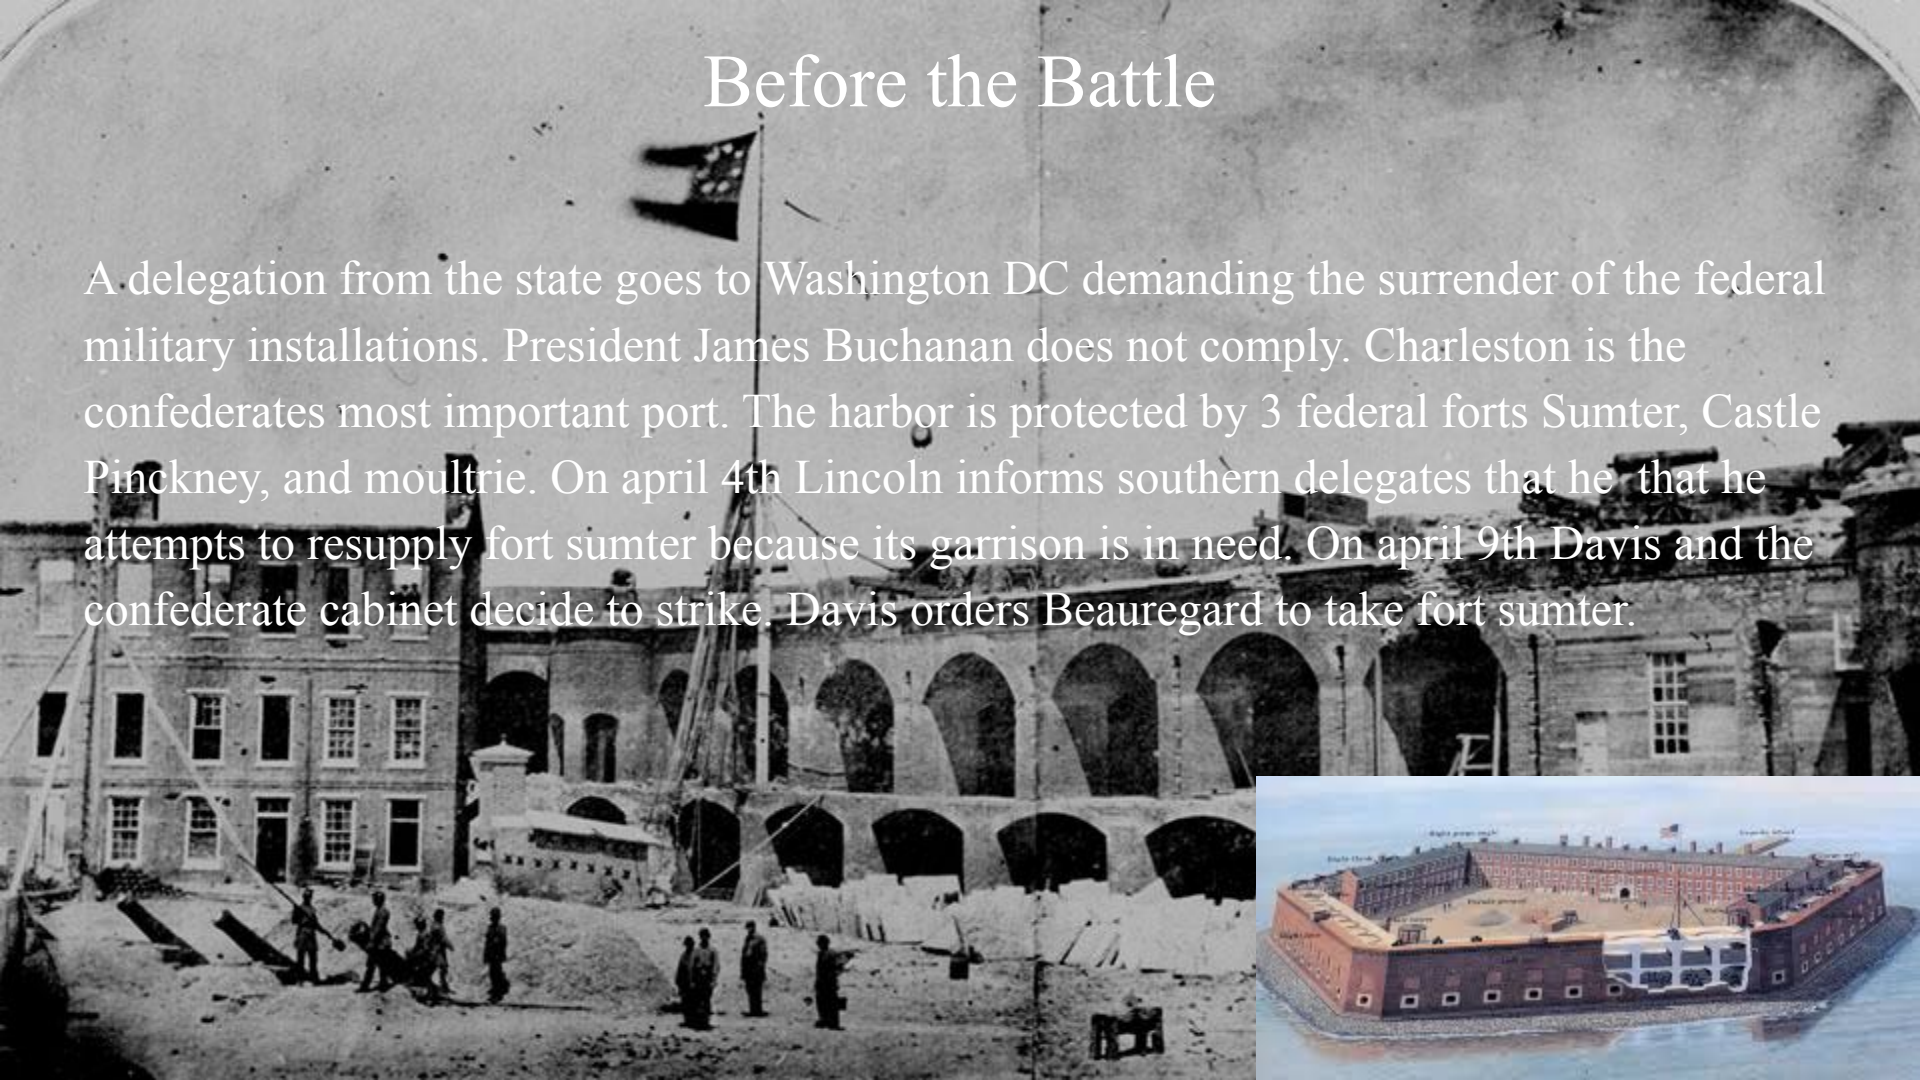

Battle of Fort Sumter facts

- The Battle of Fort Sumter started on april 12 1861 and ended april 13 1861.
- The first battle of the civil war.
- The attack on Fort Sumter marked the start of the Civil war.
- no people died during the battle.

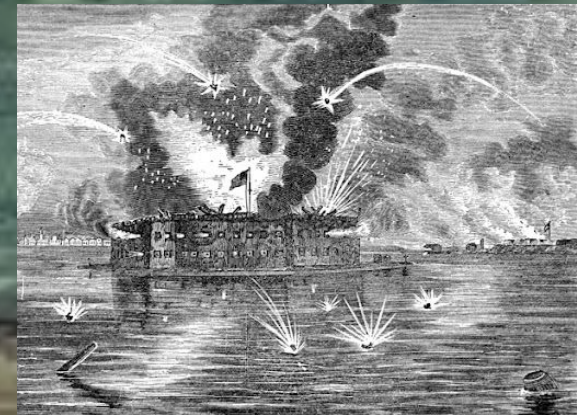

Before the Battle

A delegation from the state goes to Washington DC demanding the surrender of the federal military installations. President James Buchanan does not comply. Charleston is the confederates most important port. The harbor is protected by 3 federal forts Sumter, Castle Pinckney, and Moultrie. On April 4th Lincoln informs southern delegates that he that he attempts to resupply fort Sumter because its garrison is in need. On April 9th Davis and the confederate cabinet decide to strike. Davis orders Beauregard to take fort Sumter.

During the battle

April 12 at 4:30 am a mortar shot flies up into the air and explodes over Fort Sumter. On this signal Confederate guns from fortification and floating batteries around charleston harbor roar to life. Out manned out gunned and low on supplies and surrounded by enemy batteries Anderson waits until 7:00am to respond. For nearly 36 hours the battle goes on buildings begin to burn in the fort with no more resources Anderson surrenders the fort to confederate forces.

Video

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xsbEmWkit9Y&t=157s>

Conclusion

- The battle only lasted 32 hours
- Zero people were killed during the battle
- The union surrendered fort sumter due to lack of supplies
- The battle declared the start of the civil war

Sources

- <https://www.battlefields.org/learn/civil-war/battles/fort-sumter>